

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

OF THE FAMILIES OF

INTRODUCTION.

Whoever would attempt the production of a work like the following for a pecuniary advantage must necessarily find his labor arduous and unpromising in adequate results as he progresses with his task.

Nothing but an actual experience can make him thoroughly acquainted with the difficulties which lie in the way of procuring the material from which to construct the historical fabric he has under contemplation.

The record offices of the towns where the people of whom he writes lived are, perhaps, the most reliable source of information, but these afford but the rudimentary part—seldom little more than dates of births, marriages and deaths, which of themselves are important; but for the more particular items of history, the living descendants of the early ancestors must be found, and their family records, and often well-established traditions, make up the most interesting portion of the work.

The early settlers of Connecticut, far more than our own State of New York, anticipated the future wants of the people, and provided offices and books of record, and many of the old volumes have been rebound and preserved, and are still legible, although 250 years old.

From the first it has been the purpose of the compiler of this work to contribute gratis all his labor and expense in the production of the same (a matter of at least three thousand dollars, as a mark of love and respect for his numerous kindred and friends.

The collection and arranging the material was commenced about the year 1890, at which time it was found that many of the old people who could have furnished much interesting history had recently passed away, and the task thereby greatly increased; however, the work was diligently pursued, and information sought by personal application and by correspondence. Thousands of letters were sent, reaching from ocean to ocean, and from the Gulf to the Canadian Dominion, wherever addresses could be found. Learning that there had been published a book containing some account of the Rockwells, inquiry was made and a small volume was found, issued by Rockwell & Churchill, Boston, Mass., 1878, compiled by Henry Ensign Rockwell, of Washington, D. C., which contains the history of the immigration from England, in 1630, of Dea. William Rockwell and his wife, Susannah Chapin Rockwell, and a son, John Rockwell, who was born in England in 1627, and is said to have gone to Stamford, and hence the Fairfield County Rockwells, assuming that thus the connection between the Dea. William Rockwell branch and the John Rockwell branch of Stamford is consummated. But this is only a supposition of the writer of that book, as facts and records readily prove. Hunting's History of Stamford says John Rockwell was one of its first settlers, and was voted a home-lot as such (1641), proving positively that he was not the John, son of William, who was born in 1627, and accordingly would have been but 14 years old at that time; and, further, he is said to have gone there after his second marriage.

The facts relating to the early history of the Rockwell and Keeler families have been obtained from Town and Probate Court records, mainly at Fairfield, Norwalk, Stamford, Ridgefield, and other places in Connecticut, the New York record offices affording but limited information regarding the genealogy of the early settlers.

Honorable mention is due to Mr. George Boughton, of Danbury; Mrs. Amelia L. Rockwell Musson, of Gilbertsville, N. Y.; D. H. Van Hoosear, of Wilton, Conn.; Samuel Keeler, Esq., of Ridgefield, Conn., and Mr. William Rockwell, cashier of the State National Bank, Newark, N. J., for valuable assistance in obtaining the records of families otherwise unknown to the compiler.

While the expense to the compiler, for traveling, searching records and writing thousands of letters of inquiry, has been very considerable, and the labor of copying and revising the manuscripts for a book of over 700 pages has been arduous, it has not been irksome, although mostly done from 7 P. M. to 12 o'clock at night, as other business engagements demanded his daily attention during business hours.

"The people who take no pleasure in the achievements of their remote ancestors
Will never achieve anything to be remembered with pride by remote descendants."

THOMAS BABINGTON MACAULEY.

EXPLANATIONS.

The parents' names of each family will be written across the page, with their children in the order of their birth below, each person to commence at the left a new line, with whatever history of same in order, until all are embraced.

The several families of the same generation are presented in succession as nearly as practicable according to their connection and ages (some exceptions necessarily occur). The number of the generations in succession is printed at top of each right-hand page of the same.

The consecutive numbering at the left hand will represent those only who compose the family before marriage, the person coming in through marriage taking the number of the person they marry. In all mention of men and their wives, the male is always mentioned first.

The consecutive numbering begins at John Rockwell, the first person mentioned, and proceeds to the last person in the work in regular numerical order; any addition of names after the numbering is made will be accomplished with a small letter in alphabetical order to preserve their numerical order.

The numbers in parentheses at the end of the parents' names at head of family are the same and refer to the number originally used when said persons were first introduced.

The numbers in parentheses found connected with the original entry of a person refer to said person where they are found as parents, and take the consecutive number of their first child. The persons in the alphabetical index have the same number as in consecutive numbering.

FIRST GENERATION.

1. JOHN ROCKWELL.

It has been supposed that John Rockwell, the founder of the family of which this account is given, was from the vicinity of Dorchester, England, where the Rockwell name was well known, and came to America about the time mentioned in the History of Stamford by Huntington, page 25.

To Huntington's History, perhaps more than to any other source, we are indebted for the early history of the immigrant John Rockwell, of Stamford, Conn. The date of the first record referring to John Rockwell is December 7, 1667, where he is named as one of the first settlers, and received for his home lot two acres and a parcel of woodland.

In the same history is found a list of first settlers of Stamford, containing his name, and again, on page 40, there is found a record of John Rockwell being a witness in court there at that date.

At a town meeting held at Stamford Feb. 19, 1667-8, it was voted that John Rockwell, Sr., be granted liberty to mow and have the grass of Noroton Island as long as he shall live in Stamford.

He is also mentioned on the Land Records in 1669 as conveying his land in two parcels, to one person his house and home lot, and to another his land, after which he removed to Rye, Westchester County, N. Y., where he died in 1676.

The Whitney Genealogy, page 22, speaking of Daniel Keeler, calls him the son of John and Hittabel Rockwell Keeler, and a grandson of JOHN ROCKWELL, Sr., one of the first settlers of Stamford, Conn.; and again, on page 81, a note speaking of John Rockwell, Sr., records his death as having taken place at Rye, Westchester County, N. Y., in 1676; and also, on page 1259, in referring to the said John Rockwell, Sr., says that his wife was probably Elizabeth Weed, daughter of Jonas Weed, of Stamford, Conn.

2. RALPH KEELER.

In reference to the early history of RALPH KEELER, (9) who was one of the first settlers of Norwalk, Conn. (the writer refers to the mention made of him in the Whitney Genealogy, which is by him regarded as one of the best authorities on the events of those times), it says (page 79) Ralph Keeler was born in England about 1613 and owned a lot in Hartford, Conn., in 1640; an early settler of Norwalk, Conn., to which he went about 1651 or 1652; his first wife not known; second wife, married after 1651, was Sarah, widow of Henry Whelpley, of Norwalk.

The following was copied by the compiler of this work from the Fairfield Probate Court records from the will of Ralph Keeler, Sr., which is filed there. Will dated Aug. 20, 1672, and probated the same year, thus proving his death to have occurred in the latter part of that year. He begins by saying he is about 59 years old. First, he bequeaths one-third of his estate to his wife, Sarah; second, to his sons John Keeler and Ralph Keeler, Jr., Samuel Keeler, Jonah Keeler, and Rebecca and Elizabeth Keeler, the remainder of his estate, to be apportioned as afterwards designated.

RALPH KEELER (from whom as ancestor is traced all the Keelers embraced in this work) came from Hartford, Conn., where in 1639 the public records show that he was one of its early Puritan settlers and sold out his estate there and moved to Norwalk, as an informant says, 1651 or 1652, where the first mention of him is in a list of those to whom grants of land were made as settlers by the town authorities. Hall's History of Norwalk says that the public records of that act bears no date, but that it is accepted that said grants were made in 1652, which was about two years after the commencement of the settlement of Norwalk, Conn. He is next mentioned Dec. 18, 1653, as the contractor to whom the town awarded the contract to cut the timber and build a house for Mr. Hanford, the pastor of the church there at that time, said house to be 16x26 feet. He is next mentioned in a list of estates in Norwalk, in which his was valued at £150, dated 1655. At a town meeting held at Norwalk September, 1668, he contracted to build forty rods of fence. On Feb. 20, 1672, an enrollment of the children. Three were mentioned as Keelers. On Dec. 16, 1684, it was agreed to apportion home lots to the inhabitants, three acres to the hundred, to be drawn for, in which Ralph Keeler, Jr., received two and John Keeler three. On Jan. 3, 1687, another valuation of estates was made, in which Ralph Keeler, Jr., is recorded at £170 10s, and John Keeler £100; Samuel Keeler, £103 10s. Jan. 16, 1694, Ralph Keeler, Jr., was named one of a Town Committee to procure a minister and dispenser of the Gospel in Norwalk. Oct. 25, 1697, Ralph, Jr., and Samuel Keeler and John Whitney were appointed to erect a support to the gallery in the meeting house—the above being the last mention on public records at Norwalk of Ralph Keeler as given in Hall's History of Norwalk.

SECOND GENERATION.

Children of JOHN and ELIZABETH WEED ROCKWELL, of Stamford, Conn.:

- 3 1. JOHN ROCKWELL, JR.—Of the date and place of his birth, (15) or when or to whom married, no reliable information could be obtained by the compiler; his death probably occurred at Stamford about 1673, as his inventory was presented there March 10, 1673-4.

The Whitney Genealogy, page 24, in speaking of Ensign David Rockwell, says he was born in Norwalk Oct. 8, 1708, and was the son of Jonathan and Abigail Canfield Rockwell, of Norwalk and Ridgefield, and grandson of John Rockwell, Jr., of Stamford, Conn., and great grandson of John Rockwell, Sr., one of the early settlers of Stamford.

- 4 2. Sarah Rockwell, born probably at Stamford (date not found). Hall's History of Norwalk says (page 188) John Crampton took to wife Sarah Rockwell, daughter of John Rockwell, of Stamford, and was married Oct. 8, 1676; and (on page 26) the town of Norwalk granted to John Crampton, because he was a soldier in the King Philip War, three acres of land, dated 1679; and again (page 65), the town of Norwalk, in another distribution of land to the soldiers who served in the late Indian war, recorded May, 1681, John Crampton had granted to him eight acres and six rods of land lying on the east branch of the Norwalk River. On Jan. 3, 1687, in a general appraisement, the estate of John Crampton was valued at £53 6s. 8d.

- 5 3. HITTABEL ROCKWELL, born at Stamford, Conn. (date not found); married June 18, 1679, JOHN KEELER (son of Ralph Keeler, of Norwalk, Conn.). John and Hittabel Rockwell Keeler settled at Norwalk, where they probably spent their lives. (21)

In following the descent of the families of the Rockwells and Keelers at the third generation, we embrace the Whitney element, which merits at this place some introduction. As learned from the Whitney Genealogy, a work issued in 1878, of which, perhaps, there is none superior to it,

- 6 HENRY WHITNEY (8) was born in England and came to America about 1620, and settled at Southold, L. I., from whence he and 7 THOMAS BENEDICT, a neighbor at Southold, moved about 1650 to Norwalk, and became prominent in the settlement of that place. Said Thomas Benedict, with his wife, Mary Brigum Benedict, were cotemporary with Henry Whitney, Ralph Keeler and John Rockwell, of Stamford, Conn., in the first settlement of the towns of Stamford and Norwalk. A Benedict Genealogy having been published, the writer refers his readers to that work for the Benedict history, except as connected by marriage with the Rockwell and Keeler branches.

BENEDICT PEDIGREE.

NOTE.—The following extract from the Benedict Genealogy shows the direct line of descent from WILLIAM BENEDICT, of Nottinghamshire, England, in the 15th century, whose descendants were by only sons by the name of William for three generations, who lived and died in England.

Said third William had an only son THOMAS, born 1617, and came to America and settled on Long Island and married Mary Brigum, who was the daughter of his stepmother and came to America in the same vessel with him. They moved to Norwalk, Conn., early in its settlement, where records are found of the family for several generations. Their children were THOMAS, Jr., JOHN, Samuel, James, Daniel, Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah and Rebecca. The line of descent of those connected with this work are traced as follows: JOHN BENEDICT, who married Phebe Gregory, of Norwalk, had the following children: Sarah, Phebe, JOHN, Jr., Jonathan, Benjamin, Joseph, James and Thomas, and by John, Jr., who married Mary Hait, of Norwalk; children, John 3d, MATTHEW, Caleb, Nathaniel, Anna and Phebe. Said Matthew married Ruth Keeler, daughter of John, and settled at Ridgefield; children were Matthew, Jr., Anna, John, Ruth, JESSE, Elizabeth, Phebe, Ezra and John (7a). Jesse married Mehitabel Northrop, of Ridgefield; children, Elizabeth, Jesse, Gamaliel, Mehitabel, Ezra, Ruth, Joseph, Benjamin, Lewis, Hannah and THADDEUS. Said Thaddeus married HULDAH MARVIN, daughter of Uriah Marvin, and settled at Ridgefield. (775b)

Child of HENRY WHITNEY, of Southold, L. I., and Norwalk, Conn.:

- 8 1. John Whitney, born at Southold about 1644; a miller; married, as supposed, Elizabeth Smith, and settled at Norwalk, where he bought his father's corn mill, under a covenant to perform all the obligations his father gave as a consideration for the land and water privilege he enjoyed the use of, viz., that during his life he should grind all the grain for the families of the place for a toll not to exceed one-sixteenth, and that the mill must be cleared of all such grain before any other could be ground. The record of his marriage or death could not be found. (39)

NOTE.—For convenience the writer has supplied the following date of births as being about correct as computed from cotemporary history in the absence of authentic history:

Children of RALPH and Wid. SARAH WHELPLEY KEELER, of Norwalk, Conn.:(2)

- 9 1. REBECCA KEELER, born probably at Hartford, Feb. 9, 1654; married July 17, 1673, JAMES PICKETT, Norwalk.
- 10 2. RALPH KEELER, Jr., born at Hartford about 1646; married, about 1674, SARAH, his wife named in his will, found at Fairfield, Conn., dated March 23, 1716. (30)
- 11 3. JOHN KEELER, born probably at Norwalk about 1652; married June 18, 1769, HITABEL ROCKWELL, daughter John Rockwell, (21) of Stamford; they settled at Norwalk; his will on file at Fairfield is dated Feb. 27, 1718-19.
- 12 4. SAMUEL KEELER, born at Norwalk 1656; married there March 10, 1682, SARAH SENTION (Saint John), born 1659, (34) daughter of Mark and Elizabeth Stanley Sention, of Norwalk, where they settled. He was in the great swamp fight with the Indians Dec. 19, 1675, for which the town voted him a bounty of land in Norwalk. He died May 19, 1713; she died April 15, 1714. His estate was settled in 1716, as found at Fairfield on probate records, his inventory being dated March 29, 1716. It is said that late in their lives they moved to Ridgefield.
- 13 5. JOHN KEELER, born at Norwalk about 1658; was called in his father's will his youngest son; he was probably unmarried, as no further mention of him is found on the records; he died young, 1676, soon after his father.

- 14 6. ELIZABETH KEELER, born at Norwalk about 1660; married, as his first wife (date not found), THOMAS MOREHOUSE, and she lived and died, as is supposed, in the vicinity of Norwalk, after which he married Martha, daughter of John Hobby, of Greenwich; his children by his first wife were Jonathan, Thomas, Nathan, Gideon and Mary; second wife, Lemuel, born 1696.

THIRD GENERATION.

Children of JOHN ROCKWELL, Jr., of Stamford, as supposed from cotemporary history: (3)

- 15 1. JONATHAN ROCKWELL, probably born at Stamford, Conn., about 1665; (50) married at Norwalk about 1703, ABIGAIL CANFIELD, daughter of Samuel Canfield, and subsequently moved to Ridgefield, and probably died there, he June 19, 1731, she July 8, 1734.

NOTE.—The first mention of Jonathan Rockwell found in the Norwalk records, according to Hall's History (page 83), is in a list of valuations of estates of the inhabitants, dated June 3, 1687, in which his estate is valued at £50.

- 16 2. THOMAS ROCKWELL, born probably at Stamford about 1667; (54) married at Norwalk, Dec. 9, 1703, SARAH RESCO, daughter of John Resco, of Norwalk; he died June, 1712.

NOTE.—The first mention of Thomas Rockwell found on the Norwalk records (see Hall's History of Norwalk, page 87) is that of a list of voters of the town dated Dec. 4, 1694; his wife, Sarah, married, second, Richard Osborn. His estate is mentioned in the Fairfield probate records.

- 17 3. JOSEPH ROCKWELL, born probably about 1670; (58) married MARY —, and bought land in Norwalk, mentioned in the Norwalk town record. They sold their home lot in Norwalk March 15, 1713-14. He died there about the latter part of 1714, and his widow, Mary, presented the inventory of his estate Jan. 11, 1715, in court, which amounted to £245 18s. 2d. Jonathan Rockwell was appointed guardian for Joseph, the eldest of the children, and the widow for the other four children. Three years later she married, second, William Parker, of Norwalk.

A Court of Probate held at Fairfield April 28, 1719, being informed that the widow and relic of Joseph Rockwell had married a man of no estate, and that the estate of Hannah, Jonah, Simeon and Noah, children of said Joseph Rockwell, deceased, was in danger of being wasted, the court ordered the widow's guardianship to be removed and that Jonathan Rockwell, of Ridgefield, be appointed in her stead, he recognizing in £150. (Benedict Genealogy, p. 170, is in error, having left out one generation. See Whitney Gen.)

The scene aroused all the patriotic fire in his soul, and determined his future course. At the solicitation of Col. Bradley, he eagerly enlisted in the regular Continental army, and shared the fatigues and dangers of the three memorable years that followed. He was assigned to the post of Orderly Sergeant under General de Lafayette, and at the siege of Yorktown Sergeant Keeler was one of the first to scale the breastworks in the face of a murderous fire, for which gallantry General de Lafayette presented him with a sword, which is still in the possession of his descendants at this writing (1894)."

*NOTE.—Ezra Rockwell, born (supposed) at Lenox, Mass., Feb. 10, 1772, and is said to have moved to Solon, now Cortland County, N. Y., about 1793, and settled on a tract of land ceded by the commissioners of the State of New York to Daniel Orr, and probably purchased by Ezra Rockwell, containing six hundred acres, a copy of the original document being at this writing in the hands of the writer, together with a copy of an original commission to Ezra Rockwell as ensign of a company in the regiment of the militia of Onondaga County, N. Y., dated April 8, 1806, and signed by the Governor, Morgan Lewis. Also a copy of the marriage certificate, which is dated at Berkshire, Mass., May 30, 1792, certifying that on that day Ezra Rockwell and Priscilla Bateman were lawfully married, signed John Baron, Justice of the Peace.

Ezra Rockwell's biographer says of him that he was a man of untarnished character, a devout Christian, and a kind and benevolent man, a great reader, and he and his family were liberal contributors towards the founding of the Presbyterian Church at Solon, which was built on a plot of ground donated by him for that purpose. Said edifice is still standing (at this writing, 1891), and in a fine state of preservation after a lapse of nearly one hundred years. A schoolhouse and parsonage were also built on land given by him. He says that at that early date they were frequently annoyed by bears and deer, and occasionally a company of Indians would come to their house and cause some alarm, but never committed any very serious depredation. At that period he was obliged to take the grain on horseback a distance of forty miles to a mill, employing two to three days for the trip. About 1839 they (Ezra and his wife) were becoming advanced in life, and sold the farm at Solon to their son Chauncey Rockwell, who was to give them a home with him as long as they lived. She died at Solon, N. Y., Nov. 15, 1846, and he moved with his son to Ulster, Pa., where he died April 17, 1859.

The following obituary appeared in the local newspaper at the time of the decease of Obil Rockwell, of Ridgebury, Conn.:

"Another of the Fathers has passed away, another disciple of Christ has gone to his rest. Born in the days that tried men's souls (1776), OBIL ROCKWELL witnessed the rise and progress of our nation, from its earliest infancy to its present exalted position among the nations of the earth. He witnessed the election of all the Presidents, from Washington to Grant. His memory extended back to the days when steamboats, telegraphy and railroads were unheard of; when stoves and pleasure carriages were luxuries unknown to the most wealthy of the inhabitants, and the ladies rode to church on the indispensable pillion. He early chose the occupation of a farmer, and faithfully and successfully tilled the soil his ancestors occupied before him. Unassuming in his manners, always preferring others to himself, he won and retained, during his long life, the regard and respect of all who knew him. He made a public profession of religion in 1823, and connected himself with the Congregational Church in Ridgebury, and continued an humble and consistent member until his death. Since the death of his wife, which occurred Dec. 17th, 1851, he has lived with his children in Connecticut and Western New York. The last few years of his life he passed in Danbury and Norwalk, Conn., the last year in Dover, Delaware, where he died, October 19th, 1870, aged 93 years, 9 months and 28 days, and in compliance with his own request his remains were brought to Ridgebury, his native place, by his only surviving son, George Rockwell, and interred beside the graves of his kindred.

Children of ABRAHAM and ESTHER RIGGS ROCKWELL, of Ridgebury, Conn.: (170 and 190)

- 671 1. RUNA ROCKWELL, (1429) a farmer, born Ridgebury, town of Ridgefield, Conn., on the same farm his father and grandfather had lived for nearly a hundred years previously; date of his birth, Feb. 11, 1773. He was commissioned an ensign of the 6th Company of the 16th Regiment of Connecticut State Militia by Gov. Wolcott, Oct. 14, 1796. (See copy of original hereafter.) He was subsequently chosen captain, and was ever after, as long as he lived called Captain Runa Rockwell. He was married Nov. 11, 1790, at the age of 17, by Rev. Samuel Camp, to RACHEL DARLING, daughter of Joseph and Polly Street Darling, of Ridgebury, where she was born May 6, 1773. They continued to live on the old homestead till late in life, when they sold the farm to a grandson, and lived with their children. She was greatly loved and respected by all acquainted with her. He lived with his son, JOHN T. ROCKWELL, in Brookfield, where he died Sept. 24, 1864. She died at the house of her daughter, Mrs. Polly Benedict, in Danbury, April 12, 1860, and both were buried in Wooster Cemetery, Danbury, where marble tablets are inscribed with their names.

NOTE.—They were members of the Congregational Church at Ridgebury for many years, and sustained an unblemished Christian character, scrupulously observing the stated worship of God in their home, and, together with his neighbors, they endowed the Congregational Church at Ridgebury with an annual income sufficient to keep up the current expense of the church through coming time.

The following obituary appeared soon after his death in the Danbury News, contributed by a grandson, who obtained the principal facts herein stated from him personally:

"Mr. Runa Rockwell died at the house of his son in Brookfield on Saturday, September 24th, 1864, at the very advanced age of 91 years, 7 months and 13 days. He was born in the town of Ridgefield, Parish of Ridgebury, February 11th, 1773. The farm upon which he lived during much of his long life had been in the possession of the family since it was first purchased from the Indians. His son truly says, 'the fact of his having lived to be so old, and his faculties so remarkably retained, are worthy of record, attesting the importance, and commending his example, of frugality, industry and temperance in all things.' He was one of the foremost in the cause of temperance, abstaining himself and discountenancing in others the use of all intoxicating drinks, and abolishing the custom of 'treating his friends to liquor, as was usual in early times, and practiced by him until the evils of the use of ardent spirits began to be apparent.' Mr. Rockwell had long been a member of the Congregational Church at Ridgebury. He retained all his faculties unimpaired up to the day of his death. His memory was lucid and he loved to relate to his friends many incidents witnessed by himself connected with the Revolutionary War. He well remembered the cutting down by the Tories of the first liberty-pole in Ridgebury, and the erection of another in its place by the Federals, who filled the second one with pot-metal, nails, etc., to prevent it from sharing the fate of the former one. Also the confiscation of the property of some of his neighbors (Tories), and their imprisonment for their sympathy with and giving aid and comfort to the enemy. He had a vivid recollection of the burning of Danbury by the British, and of fleeing to the woods with his father as the red-coats approached Ridgebury. He outlived the use of pillions and gigs, and had the first four-wheel pleasure carriage ever built in Ridgebury. Gas, steamboats, telegraphs, railroads, etc., were then unknown. He traveled on horseback to the then far West, where it was nothing but a wilderness, passing through the present city of Rochester when it contained only one log house, making the journey to the Falls of Niagara and crossing into Canada. Having decided to locate there, he returned and made preparations to remove, but was detained by the breaking out of the War of 1812, rendering frontier life insecure for his family. His married life was remarkable. Himself and wife were but seventeen years of age when they were joined in marriage Nov. 11th, 1790, by Rev. Samuel Camp, and lived happily together for about seventy years, he surviving his companion about four years. During his life he saw the Government formed—saw it pass safely through all of its conflicts but the present. His desire was great to witness the successful termination of the present struggle. He had an abiding faith in the perpetuity of the Union, believing that in the future a greater destiny was in store for our country than it had yet witnessed. He died calmly, sweetly falling to sleep. Thus has passed away another link in the chain connecting us with the ever-glorious past and its band of heroes."

The following is a copy of the original commission, which was furnished by Charles L. Rockwell, of Meriden, Conn.:

 671b 3. ——— ROCKWELL, daughter, died unnamed March 14, 1782.
 672 4. LUCY ROCKWELL, born Ridgebury May 6, 1783; married Oct 27, 1801, at Ridgebury, THADDEUS BOUGHTON, (1444) a tailor and farmer, son of Timothy and Martha Scott Boughton, of Ridgefield, where he was born May 2, 1777. They settled at Nine Partners, Dutchess County, N. Y., whence after a few years they moved to Clinton, half a mile south of the Stone Meeting House, where they lived until 1816, at which time he bought a farm of 56 acres about one mile east, on what was called the Mountain. Here they lived until the spring of 1834, he working at his trade and also tilling and improving his farm.

An interesting incident was related by her of the Revolutionary War. Her father, an inn-keeper at Ridgebury, learned that the British, under General Tryon, were marching from Danbury, where they had burnt the town, to Ridgebury, a distance of five miles. Supposing their intentions were to burn the houses in Ridgebury also, he put his oxen to his cart and loaded it with such needful articles as could thus be moved, and placing his wife and child in the cart, drove to the neighboring woods and secreted them until the British had passed, which, however, they did not until a severe engagement had taken place on the hill a few rods from his house, by which several were killed. On the return of the family, to their surprise they found the house still standing, only having been pillaged of what the soldiers found in it that they wanted.

She was not naturally of a strong constitution or a hopeful temperament, but subject to a depression of spirits, especially during the last eight years of her life, which were spent at the home of her only daughter, Mrs. Eliza Wanzer, at Ledyard, Cayuga County, N. Y., where she died May 5, 1852. He survived her several years, living at the same place, where he, too, died June 16, 1861, and was buried by the side of his wife in the Friends' burying ground, where a plain granite grave-stone inscribed with their names marks their resting place.

NOTE.—Thaddeus Boughton, early in his married life, united with the Society of Friends (Quakers) known as the Creek Monthly Meeting, who held their meetings at the old stone meeting house at Clinton Corners, and at the time of the Separation he was a conscientious adherent of Elias Hicks and his doctrines, and in 1834, on removing to Victory, Cayuga County, N. Y., became separated from those of his peculiar religious views, whereupon he established the worship of God according to the custom of his sect, convening his family regularly on the first day of the week in his house and extending a cordial invitation to his neighbors to join with them in the service, which eventuated in there being a regular society organized at that place.

In 1839, by request of his father, Chauncey went back to the old homestead in Cincinnatus, N. Y., where he conducted a large dairy business until 1849, when, finding the climate uncongenial there, he sold the farm, and in 1850 moved to Ulster, Pa., and bought a half interest in a lumber business, consisting of two tracts of land, two mills and a store. One of the mills and the store was at Burlington, about eight miles from Ulster. This firm of Rockwell & Co. was dissolved, Chauncey Rockwell taking as part consideration for his interest a farm at Ulster, Pa., where he donated the land upon which the first church edifice was built in Ulster, by the M. E. Church Society. He also gave a plot for a town hall, a graded school, and a cemetery, and a large square for a town park, which, after his death, his heirs beautified by planting seventy-five trees of various kinds. Early in 1862 he went to Philadelphia, where he had sent two of his boats loaded with lumber, disposed of the same, and returned home, was taken sick, and soon afterwards died at Ulster, Pa., March 19, 1862. His widow, to whom he willed all his property during her life, was still residing at Ulster in 1893.

He was an itinerant minister of the M. E. Church in the Oneida Conference, and in 1837 they entered upon that self-denying labor, she saying as they did so, "We will go in the name of the Lord;" and though of feeble constitution, she nobly endured its toils and trials with cheerfulness, and when compelled by failing health to leave the field, they retired to Batavia, Ill., but not without regret that they had been obliged to discontinue her missionary work, which had become a delight to her. One of her greatest trials was involved in the call of her only daughter to the foreign mission field, to whom she said, "I dare not say no," though she felt it was to part to meet no more on earth with one on whom she had lavished all the wealth of a mother's love. In the spring of 1872 that insidious disease, consumption, gave increasing evidence of the near approach of her departure, in view of which she said, "I shall soon be at rest." And on April 8, 1872, she passed away to the Heavenly mansions, aged 62 years.

OBITUARY.

HON. SAMUEL S. ST. JOHN.

On the 13th day of September, 1879, there was gathered in the quiet and beautiful little hamlet of Ridgebury, which covers the extreme northern territory of the town of Ridgefield, a large company of the friends and relatives of this honored man and his good wife, met to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day, and I am confident that all who participated in the enjoyments of that memorable occasion will agree with me in saying that there was present one of the most charming pictures of domestic happiness, made pure and holy by the experience of half a century of married life, that could possibly be found. And now we have another picture.

On Sunday, June 11th, 1882, a little less than three years since the above meeting, and the same peaceful and pleasant neighborhood is again thronged by another large concourse of friends and kindred, met to pay their last sad tribute of respect to the remains of him who had been their friend and neighbor for many years, as well as sympathize with the bereaved widow and daughter.

Samuel Sidney St. John was born at Ridgebury, Sept. 6th, 1806. A few years later his father, removing to New York, gave the son the advantages of the best schools in that city, and he was graduated at Columbia College when 22 years of age. On the 13th day of September, 1829, he was married to Lucy A. Brush, of Ridgebury, and they have lived together almost fifty-three years. At the time of his marriage he was engaged in the mercantile business in his native place, and continued in it until 1832, when he removed to Ridgefield and opened a classical and commercial school. Here he found his life's work. As a teacher he excelled; patient, laborious and conscientious, he soon made his school famous and successful. It was patronized not only by the citizens of Ridgefield and adjoining towns, but by many from New York City, and this finally led in 1841 to a very tempting offer from the Mechanics' Society School in that city, which he accepted. In 1842 he was appointed principal of Ward School No. 26, in the Fourth Ward, and intrusted with the care not only of the several departments of that school, but also with the general supervision of the other schools of the ward, comprising in the aggregate more than 4,000 pupils; this position he continued to hold until he left New York in 1859. He also served as a Commissioner of Schools in the City of New York, for the years 1848 and 1849.

Soon after removing to New York he, with his wife, united with the "Church of the Epiphany" (Rev. Lot Jones), and was confirmed in 1842. He was soon after chosen one of the vestrymen, in which office he was continued until he removed from the city, at which time he had served twenty-seven years as a most acceptable and successful teacher, and henceforth concluded to retire to the quiet of a country life in his own native place. He has had, however, numerous private pupils in the classics, in which he always took great delight. In 1837 he was chosen a Senator for the Eleventh Senatorial district of this State, and in 1864 was chosen one of the representatives of Ridgefield to the General Assembly. While he was a man of decided convictions, he was extremely reticent and retiring, never obtruding his opinion upon others unless called upon, or he saw good special reasons for so doing; a sincere lover of his country and its institutions, ever loyal and hearty in his support. A politician in the best and truest sense of the word, but never an office-seeker.

Mr. St. John had for several months previous to his death admonitions of what the end might and probably would be; and especially in the last few weeks of his life, the matter was a subject of frequent conversation with his wife; and yet he maintained the peaceful, even tenor of his ways so that even near neighbors hardly suspected any unusual change or danger in his situation. During Thursday, June 8th, he said several times to his wife that he felt a very serious difficulty about breathing, and yet, in the evening, he manifested his usual friendly pleasure and hospitality in receiving and entertaining friends who had called to spend the evening, and remained until about 10 o'clock. Soon after their departure his symptoms were such that he suggested that a physician be called, for which preparations were immediately made, but before his grandson could get his horse ready, and while sitting in his chair, leaning his head upon the arm of his wife, he passed from this earthly tabernacle to the brighter and better one above, "not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

Thus died a true man and husband, father, friend and neighbor, in whom there was no guile, a humble and sincere follower of the meek and lowly One, who, when on earth, "went about doing good," in whose life and promises he believed, and trusted for all his needs here and hereafter. He is not dead! only passed beyond the veil that obscures our vision, into a higher, nobler life to receive the crown, and hear his Saviour say, "Well done."

Reverently and tenderly we laid him down in the pleasant cemetery near his old home, consecrated as the last resting place of several generations of his ancestors, and sacred with the memories of his boyhood days.

Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is run,
And thou art crowned at last.

The following is condensed from an account of him published in the Rockwell Genealogy, pages 31-33: "Brought up on his father's farm at Cornwall, he studied and graduated at Middlebury College in 1834. From there he went to Norwalk, Conn., and took charge of an academy. In 1836 he entered the theological department of Yale College in New Haven, where he married, in 1837, Lucy B. Fletcher, and went to Southington, Conn., and took charge of an academy, and while there was blessed with a revival in which nearly all of his pupils were converted. In 1838 he accepted the secretaryship of the New England Sabbath School Union, and being troubled with a bronchial affection he, at the suggestion of Dr. Jackson, of Boston, went South, and for two years (1839 and 1840) took charge of the female department of Barton Institute, Mobile, Ala. He then returned to Vermont, but in 1843 again went to Alabama, and taught for one year in Howard College, Marion. In 1844 he went to Cahaba, Ala., and was acting principal of the male and female academy there for four years. Having preached as opportunity afforded, by medical advice he relinquished preaching, and in 1853 he assumed (as principal or president) the charge of the Masonic University at Selma, Ala. Said university failing in its monetary affairs, he went to Mobile, where for two years he had charge of the Latin High School. In 1857 he went to Livingston, Ala., where for six years he had charge of a female academy. Soon after the breaking out of the war he went again to Mobile, but being a non-combatant, he was forced to leave there and went to Selma, where he resided at the time of its destruction by the Federal forces under Gen. Wilson. Thus having been despoiled of all his property, he was compelled, with his wife and only child (Henrietta Elizabeth) to begin the world again de nova. In 1867 he went to Atlanta and spent four years teaching a private school for girls in a brick school room of his own construction, after which, on the inauguration of the public school system, he was called to take charge as principal of Walker Street school, having over four hundred pupils. His wife, Lucy B. F. Rockwell, died of paralysis at Atlanta, March 20, 1871."

OBITUARY.

The Rev. George Benedict was distinguished as one of the most popular and successful preachers in the Baptist denomination, to which he belonged. The Union Baptist Church of New York City was the first with which he sustained the pastoral relation, and which under his ministrations soon outgrew the capacity of their place of worship, and the brick edifice of the Stanton Street Baptist Church was erected, and soon again that, too, proved inadequate to accommodate the large audiences attracted by his earnest and impressive sermons.

It becoming apparent that some change must be made to meet the requirements of the work, it was decided to purchase the church building at the corner of Broome and Norfolk streets, New York City, and to organize a portion of the Stanton Street Church members into a new church, with him as its pastor. The new enterprise was entered upon with the greatest unanimity and energy, which continued until the building was destroyed by fire. But a short time elapsed before another site was procured on Norfolk street, near Broome, and a fine brick and brown-stone building was erected, and the good work continued.

In the year 1847 he was laid aside from his beloved work by an attack of sciatica, from which, after a long period of suffering, he died, Oct. 28, 1848, aged 54 years. The faith for which he had contended so earnestly during a ministry of over thirty years proved his triumph in the parting hour. His funeral service was attended in the First Baptist Church, corner Broome and Elizabeth streets, and its pastor, Spencer H. Cone, preached the sermon from the text, Acts 11:24: "For he was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost, and of faith, and much people was added unto the Lord." Dr. Cone stated that during his ministry he (Elder Benedict) had baptized over eleven hundred persons.

After his death the church became divided through the influence of its pastor, Thomas Armitage, and the property was sold to the Methodists, and many of the members were scattered among the neighboring churches; a few, adhering to him, went uptown and built the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church.

Elder George Benedict was distinguished for gentleness, meekness and patience, but with sufficient firmness to resist the encroachments of error. As a pastor, he was to the aged a companion and friend; to the young an example and adviser. As a preacher, he was faithful and prayerful, admonishing his hearers with an earnestness that made him eloquent, and with a kindness that precluded all objections or denunciations. His forgiving spirit and his sympathy with the afflicted were prominent characteristics in his life. His natural urbanity rendered his presence always desirable in the social circle; his pronounced piety and wisdom in counsel made him always valued in religious conventions and and associations of the denomination.

NOTE.—The compiler of this work desires to add his personal testimony to the excellence of Elder George Benedict's character in all the relations of life. Having been baptized and married by him, the attachment became unusually strong, and only that Baptist Church history affords so much better a medium, it would have been a pleasure to have given a more extended biography of him in this place.

5. LUCY MARIA ROCKWELL, born Ridgebury Aug. 15, 1807. In childhood she was endowed with much modesty and grace, and with her early religious education gave promise of a life of great usefulness. She was a most devoted Christian, and at her death seemed anxious to depart and be with Christ, requesting her friend a few minutes before she expired to sing a familiar hymn expressive of her feelings:

DYING.

Vital spark of Heavenly flame, t
Quit, O quit this mortal frame;
Trembling, hoping, lingering, flying—
Oh! the pain, the bliss, of dying!

Come, fond Nature—cease thy strife
And let me languish into life.
Hark! the whisper! Angels say,
“Sister spirit, come away!”

The world recedes—it disappears;
Heaven opens to my eyes and ears;
I hear the sound seraphic ring!
Oh, lend your wings! I mount—I fly!
Oh, grave, where is thy victory?
Oh, Death, where is thy sting?”

She died in her home with her parents at Ridgebury, Sept. 12, 1835, aged 28, and was buried in Ridgebury Cemetery.

Having qualified for teaching, he engaged and taught the district school one and a half miles north of Victory Centre during the winter of 1838. In the spring of 1839 he decided to learn some other than the business of a farmer. Proceeding to New York City, he found employment as clerk in a grocery store, which he continued for several years. In the year 1842, Sept. 4, he was baptized into the Norfolk Street Baptist Church by its pastor, Rev. George Benedict, and on May 2, 1844, he married Eliza Jane Terhune, only child of Richard and Elizabeth Talleck Terhune, of New York City, where she was born May 11, 1825. Inducements being offered in the winter of '57, he moved his family to Ashkum, Iroquois County, Ill., intending to engage in farming, but the climate proving sickly, returned the following year to Brooklyn, from whence they had moved to Illinois.

In the spring of 1861 he secured the appointment of Chief Clerk or Superintendent of the New York Produce Exchange, at that time the largest grain mart in this country, and was appointed from year to year for the next following twelve years, when he resigned his position and engaged in other employments.

In June, 1889, the Fifth Avenue Bank was incorporated, and he was appointed to a position which he held till Dec. 31, 1892, and subsequently he has held an appointment in the Dime Savings Bank of Williamsburgh, of which he has been a trustee since 1862, and is to the present writing.

In 1883 he entered upon the work of collecting and compiling a Genealogy of the BOUTONS and BOUGHTONS of this country, which involved a labor of six years, which, together with much time and money spent in traveling and searching records, he gave gratuitously in order that a work could be published at a cost within the means of a large number. An edition of 300 was published and soon disposed of.

On the completion of the Bouton-Boughton work, having accumulated considerable matter relative to the Rockwell and Keeler families, he decided to prepare a thorough Genealogical Compendium of them also, which has been done at great cost of labor and money, not expecting nor desiring any compensation, further than the satisfaction of having performed an appreciated service for his kindred.

He died Dec. 29, 1898, and was buried at Brewster, N. Y.

She was educated at Cazenovia Seminary, and at the early age of 16 she exhibited rare traits of Christian character. She devoted herself to teaching, and attained the position of preceptress in the Ohio Wesleyan Female College.

On landing at Calcutta in August, 1859, he started for his field in Rohilcund, but died before reaching his station, and was buried at Lucknow, leaving his young wife alone in that foreign land. But nobly did she go forward to the work for which she had left home and country, not disheartened by the overwhelming bereavement through which she had been called to pass.

She took charge of the Boys' Orphanage at Bareilly, and found a pleasant home in the family of Dr. Waugh. Her work was very severe, and she was obliged to repair to the sanitarium at Nynee Tal. After five months she again returned to her work, and in the following December (1860) she was married to the Rev. JAMES MILLS THOBURN, of the India Mission, then stationed at Nynee Tal, who has since been chosen a bishop there. She continued to labor as a missionary with marked success, having organized a Sabbath school among the children of the place, and an orphanage for the children of the mountaineers; but in the midst of her usefulness she was called away. Her death, which occurred Oct. 30, 1862, was a scene of holy triumph. She was in the highest sense

They settled at LeRoy, and lived there nearly a year, then moved to Granville Centre, where they were still living in 1893. He has repeatedly filled offices of trust and responsibility in the town, and has also been mercantile appraiser for Bradford County, Pa. An extract from a private letter tells of a family reunion, consisting of the descendants of Samuel and Hannah Lassell Rockwell, formerly of Lanesborough, Mass., Cornwall, Vt., and Crown Point, N. Y., moving to Troy, Pa., in 1804. They built a log cabin, where she died twenty-one years afterward. In 1847 their descendants, to the number of 113, assembled at Canton to visit the old homestead, which was reported at the time by the Bradford Reporter, Sept. 25, 1847. The said extract speaks of another reunion held in 1888 on the very spot where that first log cabin was built, in the old orchard, now the property of Jacob G. Rockwell, which was attended by about 300 of the descendants of the said Samuel and Hannah Rockwell, besides many friends and neighbors. All united in pronouncing it a most enjoyable occasion. A local paper, at the time, in speaking of this reunion held in 1888, said:

The annual gathering of the above family was held August 25 last, on the farm now owned by Jacob G. Rockwell. The meeting was in many respects memorable, it being exactly forty-one years that day when a similar meeting was held on the same ground, and forty-one of the number present were able to attend this reunion of 1888. After dinner President S. A. Rockwell called the meeting to order. Devotional exercises were conducted by Elder Gordinier. The president then gave some interesting particulars relating to the family. Samuel Rockwell came from Vermont in 1804, and settled on the farm where the meeting of 1888 was held. He cut a road from Alba to this farm, a distance of two miles, in one day, built a house the second day, and moved into it the third day. At the reunion in 1847 he, with his nine sons, was present, as were also Luther Rockwell's nine sons. All of Luther Rockwell's sons were present at the meeting of '88.

"Hon. Delos Rockwell, of Troy, in a short, eloquent speech, briefly sketched the history of the family. Henry and George Saxton, grandchildren of S. A. Rockwell, furnished music; the Misses Frances and Mollie Rockwell recited poems, and Miss Emma L. Bush read an original poem, which is given below. Elder Frick concluded the exercises with appropriate remarks. The meeting adjourned to meet at Allen Parsons's, Columbia X Roads, September 29, 1889."

MISS BUSH'S POEM.

Roll back the mists of eighty years,
Increased by two times two,
And let imagination bring
A simple sketch to view.
Tall forest trees a background make,
And in their thick, cool shade
The clumsy bear and bounding deer
Their favorite haunts have made.

A modest clearing next appears
Upon the woodland scene,
And 'mong the stumps that thickly stand

There flows a little stream.
We look again and further see
The fruit of labor's hands,
For there beside the purling brook
A rude log cabin stands.

And peeping through the open door
We see, at close of day,
The inmates of this humble home
With spirits light and gay.
It is an honest farmer man
Who, with his loving mate,
Came all the way across the hills
From the Green Mountain State.

And here they stopped in forest wild
 To hew them out a home,
 To raise their food and have enough,
 For they were not alone.
 For since they saw their wedding day
 A half a score of boys,
 With maidens one to head the list,
 Were added to their joys.

And here upon their frugal fare,
 Sweetened by honest toil;
 For cheerfully with spade and hoe
 They grubbed the virgin soil;
 Until at length to man's estate
 These sturdy lads had grown,
 And reaching out into the world
 Built new homes of their own.

And there we leave them for a time
 To each pursue his way,
 Till one and forty years ago,
 Upon this very day;
 Again we take a passing glance,
 And memory comes to aid
 Imagination as she shows
 The progress time has made.

On the same spot, but ah! how changed,
 In three and forty years;
 The forest has receded now,
 The fair, smooth land appears.
 Instead of cabin built of logs,
 A spacious farm house see!
 And apple, peach and pear are found
 On many a bending tree.

And there upon the porch is seen,
 Within his easy chair,
 The honest farmer, old and bent,
 With thin and silver hair;
 Who looks with moist and kindly eyes,
 Whose sight is growing dim,
 On kindred come from far and near
 To greet and honor him.

Nine of his jolly little lads,
 Are there with locks of gray,
 And as each one in turn calls up
 His own, and leads the way
 Down to the orchard where the grass
 And shade are very fine,
 One group of boys attracts our gaze,
 We count them—there are nine.

And when they all are seated there,
 The old man looks them o'er,
 And sees a mighty family
 Which numbers many a score;
 And casts with pride a backward
 glance
 O'er all his checkered life,
 Since first he to this pleasant spot
 Came with his faithful wife.

But time rolls on, and here again,
 In eighteen-eighty-eight,
 His kindred come, a multitude
 Of people, small and great,
 To honor thus his memory,
 And all his virtues tell,
 And think how oft the pioneers
 In bravery did excel.

But sadness mingles with our joy
 On this, our festal day,
 As memory reverts to those
 Who have been called away;
 For such is life, and every home
 Must have its sorrowing time,
 Yet strangely true, we see again
 One same unbroken nine.

All honor to the race that from
 This small beginning sprung,
 And as we trace their history
 To find the victories won,
 We cast a glance along the line,
 In four and eighty years,
 But find no name that has been known
 In both the hemispheres.

Only the good are truly great,
 Some ancient sage has said;
 And while we would not dare to say
 In goodness we have led,
 It gratifies an honest pride
 To say we cannot tell
 Of one who's stretched a hangman's rope,
 Or filled a prison cell.

Then a sacred duty it becomes
 For us, our whole lives through,
 To honor well our ancestry,
 By being good and true,
 And striving to perpetuate
 The record well begun,
 And feel that when we're called to rest
 Our work has been well done.

Then let us always strive to be Found on the side of right;
 For honor, truth and temperance
 To battle with our might;

And live so that in future years
 A scribe may truly tell:
 They anchored on the solid "Rock,"
 And drank from the living "Well."

The following account was contributed by Samuel A. Rockwell, Esq., of Granville Centre, Pa.: "The lineal descendants of Samuel and Hannah Lassell Rockwell met, as is their annual custom, at Alparon Park, Troy, Pa., on Sept. 30, 1891. About 150 of them were present, but on account of the failure at the previous meeting to appoint a leader and provide a programme for the occasion, the ordinary religious exercises were dispensed with, and the meeting resolved itself into a festival and sociable, for which a most sumptuous supply had been provided. After a general greeting and hearty handshaking, the company was called to order, and by vote it was decided to meet again one year hence, and that Samuel A. Rockwell, Esq., be the presiding officer of the occasion, with full power to make all necessary arrangements for the same."

He lived there and in Onondaga County, and afterward in Chenango County, where, in the fall of 1863, on the call of the President of the United States for 300,000 men to defend the country against the Southern Rebellion, he enlisted in October in the 22nd N. Y. Cavalry (Gen. Custer's Division), and in the following spring was taken prisoner, May 8, 1864, at the battle of the Wilderness, and was confined in that notorious Rebel prison, Andersonville, which at the end of eight months had reduced him to a mere skeleton. He was then paroled and returned to Binghamton, N. Y., where he was weighed, tipping the scales at 81 pounds. His original weight in 1864 was 182 pounds. This experience so broke down his constitution that he has never regained his former health, a sacrifice entitling him and the thousands that shared a like fate to the gratitude of this whole nation.

*NOTE.—JAMES EDWARD KEELER was born in La Salle, Ill., September 10, 1857. As a boy he was always fond of mechanical and scientific pursuits. In 1869 he went to Florida with his parents, and in 1875 and 1876 was engaged in surveying around the mouth of the St. Johns River, and became interested in astronomy by endeavoring to find a meridian line. He began astronomical observations at this time with a telescope and transit instrument of his own construction, and also studied for college. In 1877 he went to the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. He observed the total solar eclipse of July 29, 1878, with the party in charge of Professor Holden, at Central City, Colorado.

Mr. Keeler graduated from the university in June, 1881, and was engaged by Prof. Langley as an assistant on an expedition to Mount Whitney, Cal., to observe the sun from a great elevation. On returning from Mount Whitney, he remained at the Allegheny Observatory to assist in preparing the results of the expedition for publication. In May, 1883, he went to Europe and studied physics with Prof. Quincke in Heidelberg and Prof. von Helmholtz in Berlin. On returning, after 14 months' absence, he was again engaged as a regular assistant at the Allegheny Observatory, working principally on the determination of obscure wavelengths and the distribution of energy in the lunar spectrum.

Mr. Keeler was appointed assistant astronomer under the Lick Trust in April, 1883, and has resided on Mount Hamilton since that time. He

OBITUARY.

Prof. Edward Tompkins McLaughlin, of Yale, died at his home, 34 Trumble street, New Haven, at about 9 o'clock, July 24, 1893, of typhoid fever. His illness was of short duration, extending over a period of but about two weeks. So violent and rapid was the development that his physician, Dr. W. G. Dagget, informed the friends present that recovery was hopeless, some time before his death. His parents and several intimate friends were with him for several days of his last sickness. He was well known in New Haven, and was highly esteemed by the faculty and corporation of the university. His death removes the brightest and most popular of the new Department of English Literature, which Yale has just begun to build up.

The following was published in the Danbury Times about the same time:

"Professor McLaughlin's Memorial.—A movement is on foot among the students who have returned to Yale to establish a permanent memorial to the late Prof. Edward T. McLaughlin, one of Yale's most popular professors, who died during the vacation. Professor McLaughlin was one of the most popular members of the faculty among the students, and his loss is keenly felt by them. He has relatives in Danbury. The movement has already taken form, and it is proposed to raise a fund of $1,000 or more for the establishment of a freshman prize in English composition, to be called the McLaughlin prize. It was one of Prof. McLaughlin's favorite ideas to establish such a prize, and it is believed that it will be a fitting memorial to one who has done so much for English composition in the university. If the subscriptions exceed $1,000, a memorial tablet will probably be raised also."

was appointed Astronomer in the Lick Observatory January 14, 1887, to date from the official transfer of the observatory.

Most of his work done at Allegheny is embodied in the publications of the observatory, and at Mount Whitney in the official report of Prof. Langley (Professional Papers of the U. S. Signal Service, No. XV). He has discovered two comets with telescopes made by himself.

At the Lick Observatory he worked principally with the great telescope in the field of stellar spectroscopy. He discovered the motions of the nebulae in the line of sight; discovered new division in the outer ring of Saturn; chief of Lick Observatory eclipse expedition, Jan. 1, 1889. He is a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, 1890; was appointed Director of the Allegheny Observatory and Professor of Astro-Physics in the Western University of Pennsylvania, May 11, 1891, and removed to Allegheny, Pa. MRS. M. R. PORTER DIES WEDNESD

Former Cornwall Teacher Passes Away at McCone nell Rest Home.

The long and very useful life of Mrs. Mary Rockwell Porter came to a peaceful end early Wednesday morning, May 18, at the McConnell Rest Home in Brandon where she had been for the winter.

She was born in Cornwall July 1, 1840, a daughter of Simeon S. and Mary (Jones) Rockwell. At 14 years of age she attended the Cornwall seminary and later completed her musical education at Musicvale, Vt., Conn. From there she went to Alabama with her harp and guitar to teach music, but was obliged to turn home the next year owing to ill-health between the North and South, prior to the Civil war. She taught music several years at Middlebury Female seminary. August 28, 1867, she was married to late Edward O. Porter, M. D., who had served as surgeon in the 7th Regiment of the Vermont Volunteers during the war, and settled in Cornwall. For over 30 years she gave vocal art lessons in Cornwall and in visiting towns to large classes. In a quiet manner she gave music generally to many in need. In 1877 she united with the Congregational church and for 50 years and until she was 90 years of age served it most faithfully and efficiently as organist, and a part of the time as chorister.

She leaves one sister, Mrs. E. Sanford, a niece, Miss Beulah Sanford, two grand-nephews, Sanford Winfield Foote, two grand nieces, Nellie and Florieta Foote, and a grand-daughter, Miss Elizabeth Porter.

The funeral was held at the Congregational church this morning at 10:30 o'clock, the Rev. John W. Thorpe of Brandon, officiated. The pastor, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Thorpe of Brandon, officiated.

Mrs. Henriette Drake Hoyt of Brandon and Arthur Parkhill, pianist, rendered favorite selections of the deceased.

The interment was in the farm in Central cemetery. The deceased were Sanford and Winfield Foote, Mr. Parkhill, B. R. Field, F. D. Chester and E. H. Matthews. The songs were numerous and of a high order of love and devotion.

In 1862 his father, who was a millwright, met with a serious accident, disabling him for his business, by which the support of the family devolved upon Lorenzo and his mother. After a few years they removed to Michigan, where he learned the carpenter's trade, which he followed until 1873, when they again moved to Traver, Cal., where he graduated from the Normal School in 1878, and began teaching, which he followed successfully for six years. In 1880 he married Ella S. Pennebaker, of Traver, Cal., daughter of William Pennebaker, a wealthy farmer of Farmersville. She died in August, 1884, leaving a large circle of friends in whose midst her usefulness and culture had won for her an enviable position. The following extract is copied from the History of Tulare County, Cal., published at Chicago, Ill.:

"Mr. L. A. Rockwell is one of the pioneers of Traver, having embarked in the drug business there soon after the town was started. He was the first justice of the peace, in which capacity he served nearly four years, and a reference to his old docket shows that nearly 500 cases had been tried before him, and many hymeneal knots had been tied by him in his official capacity.

"He also held the appointment of postmaster for four years, and was the first Master of the Masonic lodge there. He was a charter member of, and held one of the principal offices in, the A. O. U. W., I. O. O. F., and the Rebecca Lodge, I. O. O. F. He was president of the Traver Improvement Co., and trustee of the Traver Music Hall, and president of the Chautauqua Circle.

"Politically, Mr. Rockwell is a Republican, and a member of the Executive Committee of the county, and has represented his county in many Congressional Conventions of the State.

"Personally, Mr. Rockwell is genial and affable, and is a fluent talker, and a graphic writer, a liberal patron of the religious and educational institutions of the town. Owing to impaired health, he left Traver in the summer of 1891 to seek its improvement, which was found at Santa Monica, where he was living in 1894."

IRA KEELER settled at Binghamton in 1793. By occupation he was a millwright. He is said to have had a brother, who came from Ohio about twenty-five years afterward. They originally came from along the Hudson River. The former married Rosabell King. Their children were Harriet, Mary, Andrew, Barilo, Hiram, Lasa, Charles, Ira, 2d, and Albert. A child of Albert of Owego, N. Y., in 1900, gives the account, and also the addresses of Samuel Keeler, Chenango Bridge, Broome County, N. Y.; A. P. Keeler, of the same county, and Mrs. Nancy Wheeler, of Owego, N. Y., who are probably descendants of Ira, Sr.
